

Ugo Ezema, MD

Dum Spiro, Spero. — While I breathe, I hope.

Pulmonologist and critical care physician.
Host of The Last Zebra. Author of Doc Populi.
Building the next decade of physician-led AI.

Dr. Ugo Ezema is a triple board-certified physician (Internal Medicine, Pulmonary Disease, Critical Care) based in New Orleans, Louisiana. He trained at Tulane and practiced at Ochsner Health and Terrebonne General Hospital before founding a portfolio of ventures — Auxo Health, Auxo Code, and MDX — that put AI in the hands of practicing clinicians.

He hosts The Last Zebra, a long-form interview podcast with physicians whose careers do not fit the template. His weekly newsletter, Doc Populi, is written for anyone who has ever wanted a doctor to just answer the question honestly.

SPEAKS ON

PHYSICIAN-LED AI

THE FUTURE OF PRIMARY CARE

CRITICAL CARE MEDICINE

HEALTH-TECH FOUNDERS

DOCTOR STORYTELLING

MEDICINE & CULTURE

AT A GLANCE

CREDENTIALS

MD — Doctor of Medicine

ABIM board certified — Internal Medicine

ABIM board certified — Pulmonary Disease

ABIM board certified — Critical Care Medicine

Trained at Tulane • Ochsner • Terrebonne General

WORK

Auxo Health — founder • clinician-facing AI

Auxo Code — founder • medical coding AI

MDX — telemedicine platform, in development

The Last Zebra — podcast host, 58+ episodes

Doc Populi — weekly newsletter

BOOKING • PRESS • SPEAKING

Web • ugoezema.com • Email • contact@ugoezema.com • Speaking • ugoezema.com/speaking

Newsletter • Doc Populi • Podcast • The Last Zebra

